MOUNTAINEERING - AUTONOMY & SAFETY COURSE - LEVEL 1

Duration: 4

Fitness: ▲▲▲▲▲ Technique: ▲▲▲▲▲

Price from: 945 €

Our Autonomy & Safety courses are designed to help you achieve independent ascents. A key feature of our courses is the exclusive ratio of 3 to 4 participants per guide, ensuring personalized attention and a program fully tailored to your needs. These courses are ideal for those looking to progress step by step, through a learning process focused on self-reliance. Each course includes at least one night in a mountain hut, allowing you to fully experience the atmosphere and unique moments of exchange.

Our Autonomy & Safety - Level 1 course focuses on glacier ascents. After two days of consolidating your skills in rock climbing and ice climbing techniques, you will head to the Albert 1er Hut and the Glacier du Tour. This course is the logical continuation of our 5-day introductory course. Enrollment requires specific prerequisites to ensure optimal skill development: you must master basic belaying techniques in rock climbing and have completed at least two ascents using crampons.

Objectives of the Autonomy & Safety - Level 1 course

- Consolidation of your skills in rock climbing and ice climbing techniques
- Mastery of glacier safety basics: roping techniques, belaying, and basic crevasse rescue
- Risk management: map reading, guidebooks, and briefing tools
