ITINERARY

Day 1

Lake Tseuzier - Iffigenalp

After an early morning transfer that takes us to the Swiss Valais region, we start our hike along the shores of Lake Tseuzier. Quickly, we find ourselves in a typical Swiss alpine meadow, which we ascend with all the peaks of the Valais in the background. Upon reaching the Col de Rawill, we begin our descent amidst waterfalls and lush pastures towards Iffigenalp. Transfer to Simmenfalle, where we will spend the night.

Elevation gain: 2625 feet - descent: 3117 feet - Distance: 8.1 miles

Day 2

Simmenfalle - Ammertepass (2443m) - Engstigenalp

A magnificent day awaits us at the foot of the Wildstrubel, first along the water, then in an increasingly rocky environment as we approach the Ammertepass (8,031 feet). From there, we glimpse the suspended valley that will welcome us for the night at Engstigenalp.

Day 3

Engstigenalp - Chindbettipass - Kandersteg

We depart from our lofty inn to climb towards the Chindbettipass. Then, we head left along the Entschligegrat ridge to begin the descent towards Kandersteg, along the Alpbach stream.

Elevation gain: 2300 feet - descent: 4600 feet - Distance: 8.7 miles

Day 4

Kandersteg - Leukerbad

Kandersteg - Leukerbad

We set out in the same direction as the previous day, but this time, we ascend through a different valley towards Lake Daubensee (7,238 feet), a marvelous body of water suspended in the heart of the Oberland. The ascent continues towards the Gemmipass, a prime location for observing the Bearded Vulture, the largest vulture in the Alps. Then, we descend towards Leukerbad, where we will spend the night.

Elevation gain: 3900 feet - descent: 3300 feet - Distance: 9.9 miles

Day 5

Leukerbad - Aminona

This final day allows us to conclude our journey in the most beautiful way: by crossing the lush alpine meadows of Valais. On the south face of the Wildstrubel, we traverse the valley in the direction of our starting point. This day offers many possibilities and exit points, and it will be up to the guide to arrange a meeting with the taxi at the point that best suits your fitness level for the day.
